

TEACHING – A NOBLE PROFESSION

Wednesday 22 June 2016

Centenary Centre, Trinity Grammar School, 119 Prospect Road Summer Hill

Abstract

Helen Caldicott believes that teachers “are the most responsible and important members of society because their professional efforts affect the fate of the earth.” Despite this, the profession of teaching is not often a conversation point for students considering post-secondary school training options.

Teaching--A Noble Profession, provides an opportunity for students in Year 12 considering teaching as a career to meet and chat about careers in teaching with experienced educators, potential employers, final year pre-service teachers and representatives from the University sector.

Six major universities and the Board of Studies, Teaching and Educational Standards NSW (BOSTES) will be in attendance.

The Teachers' Guild of NSW exists to promote and further the cause of education generally and to consider all questions affecting the status and interests. Today the Guild's logo reads Doceo ut discam: I teach, that I may learn, and seeks to express a commitment to continued professional learning. It is hoped that schools will assist in the promotion of our profession by their participation and that of their students in this activity.

Targeted audience: Year 12 students, Principals, School Executive, Careers Advisers, Final Year Pre-Service Teachers, University Teaching Practicum Co-ordinators and Teaching staff and professionals involved in mentoring students.
